Hustler TV and X Channel – Amendment to the definition of broadcast day

1. The Commission approves the application by Ten Broadcasting Inc. to amend the definition of the term “broadcast day” for the purposes of the conditions of licence for the national English-language Category 2 specialty programming undertakings known as Hustler TV and X Channel.
2. The Commission did not receive any interventions in connection with this application.
3. The broadcast day for both Hustler TV and X Channel is currently defined as the 24-hour period beginning at 6:00 a.m. each day. The licensee requested that the definition of the broadcast day for each of these undertakings be amended, effective 1 November 2004, to mean a 24-hour period beginning at midnight (00:00) each day.
4. In accordance with its usual practice for amendments to the definition of broadcast day, the Commission finds that it is appropriate to implement the revised definition, effective 1 September 2005. Accordingly, the definition of the broadcast day for the purposes of both Hustler TV’s and X Channel’s conditions of licence will read as follows:

Beginning 1 September 2005, “broadcast day” means a 24-hour period beginning each day at midnight (00:00), or any other period approved by the Commission.
5. In approving this application, the Commission has taken into account the fact that the revised definition of the broadcast day will not adversely affect the conditions of licence pertaining to Hustler TV’s and X Channel’s nature of service or any other of their conditions of licence.
