It also adds further process to permit requests by parties for further responses to their second round of interrogatories and requests for public disclosure of information for which confidentiality has been claimed, as set out in three new paragraphs following paragraph 29. The Commission renumbers all subsequent existing paragraphs to reflect the insertion of the new paragraphs. The revised portion of the procedure section follows for ease of reference.
 27. Parties may file submissions with the Commission, serving a copy on all parties, by 30 October 2009.
 28. Parties may address additional interrogatories to any party who filed submissions pursuant to paragraph 27. Any such interrogatories must be filed with the Commission and served on the relevant party or parties by 6 November 2009.

30. Requests by parties for further responses to their interrogatories, specifying in each case why a further response is both relevant and necessary, and requests for public disclosure of information for which confidentiality has been claimed, setting out in each case the reasons for disclosure, must be filed with the Commission and served on the relevant party or parties by 27 November 2009.
31. Written responses to requests for further responses to interrogatories and for public disclosure must be filed with the Commission and served on the party or parties making the request by 2 December 2009.

39. Parties may file their submissions electronically or on paper. Submissions longer than five pages should include a summary.
40. Electronic submissions should be in HTML format. As an alternative, those making submissions may use "Microsoft Word" for text and "Microsoft Excel" for spreadsheets.
41. Each paragraph of all submissions should be numbered. In addition, the line End of document should be entered following the last paragraph. This will help the Commission verify that the document has not been damaged during electronic transmission.

42. The Commission also encourages parties to monitor the record of this proceeding (and/or the Commission's website) for additional information that they may find useful when preparing their submissions.
